

Brandon Skopek is a 2017 graduate of the Oakland University Master of Public Administration program and currently serves as the Director of Authorities with the City of Auburn Hills.

Brandon recently transitioned to this position after serving as the Assistant to the City Manager / DDA Coordinator for the City of Brighton where he resided for the last two years while he attended graduate school full time. Brandon has spent his career in local government as a planning and economic development professional and received his Master of Public Administration with a concentration in local government management.

How the MPA Program has benefited him- “The MPA program has prepared me in unpredictable ways for my career and has made me a better professional. Through the support of classmates and professors, and the multiple networking opportunities with other professionals in the field, I have been able to expand my professional skills and use experiences from the MPA program to receive an exceptional career position with opportunity for growth.”