

COURSE RENUMBERING

Three to four digit conversions

Updated August 30, 2017

Effective the Fall 2017 semester, all undergraduate and graduate courses at Oakland University will be renumbered from 3 digits to 4 digits.

Most subject codes will remain the same, but the new four-digit course numbers may in some cases be similar to the previous three-digit course numbers and in other cases be different because academic departments have resequenced their course numbers.

The following subject codes have changed:

- Studio Art (SA) changed to ART
- Some English (ENG) courses changed to Creative Writing (CW)
- Computer Science and Engineering (CSE) and Computer and Information Technology (CIT) changed to Computer Science and Informatics (CSI)
- Music Theory and Composition (MUT) changed to either Applied Music (MUA) or Musicology and Music Education (MUS)

This searchable PDF is a guide to see how the course numbers have changed. Each row represents a course, and the columns represent: the subject code, the previous three-digit course number, and the new four-digit course number for that course, beginning in Fall 2017.

To search this PDF for a specific course using the old number, you can just hit "Control" (or "Command" if on Mac) and "F," then type in a specific course (e.g. "WRT 160") to find the new course number.

For more information, please contact your academic adviser at oakland.edu/advising. Graduate students, please contact your academic department for advising.
