Board Of Advocacy and Resource Development

Noteworthy

Dr. Daniel Goble published a study that found that a new BTrackS training protocol improves balance by almost 30% in healthy young adults.

Ewa Matuszewski, MedNetOne founder/CEO and SHS board member, earns Health Achievement Leadership Legacy (HALL) Award from Oakland University's School of Health Sciences.

Eleven percent of Oakland County adolescents struggle with food insecurity. Recognizing this pressing issue, OU students Sarah Nyquist and Rachel Whalen studied Food Rescue US, a nonprofit organization that aims to provide meals to those in need and "rescue" food that would go to waste, for their ECLIPSE Community Health Research Project.

Sarah Martin, Special Instructor of Nutrition at Oakland University's School of Health Sciences, gave a preview of her Culinary Demonstration for the Healthology Symposium 2023 on Fox 2 News.
